PEACE TERMS.

GERMAN SHIPS NOT TO BE SUNK.

LONDON, March 2.

All the committees' considerations of military, territorial, and economic terms will be presented to the Council of Ten about the middle of this week. The preliminary and peace terms should be completed between March 14 and 25. There is likely to be a plenary session of the Peace Conference on March 25 to ratify the terms.

After that the Germans will be called on to sign the preliminaries of the peace settlement. This momentous event is likely to take place around April 1. Then the formal peace conference will begin.

The naval programme will contain drastic rules against the future use of submarines. All the delegates have virtually subscribed to the abolition of all undersea craft and to bar future manufacture.

The German fleet will not be destroyed but divided among the navies of the Allies.

The opposition of the French Government to lifting the German Blockade is undergoing a change owing to the alarming state of affairs in Germany. The United States and Great Britain have induced the French Government to consent to a partial lifting of the blockade as a step toward stemming the tide of Bolshevism and restoring order.

PARIS CONFERENCE.

LONDON, March 10.

The Press Bureau issues a communiqué from Paris stating that the Supreme War Council discussed the report of the military experts presented by Marshal Foch relative to the definitive military status of Germany. The terms of the report were fixed and its conclusions adopted.

FRANCE.

LONDON, March 2.

A fall in the cost of living in France is expected in about a fortnight. This is a prediction by the Secretary of the French Revictualising Committee. About 40 per cent. less is contemplated.

An important deputation from the Federation of British Industries will arrive in France next Wednesday to discuss the future of Franco-British trade relations.

CABLE DELAYS.

LONDON, March 11.

In the House of Commons Mr. A. H. Illingworth the Postmaster General, replying to Mr. Ramsden's question about cable delays to the Far East, said the heavy delays were due to several causes. Firstly the traffic was two and a half times greater than in pre-war times. A large proportion thereof was government work taking precedence over private cables. Secondly, owing to the stoppage of the auxiliary routes via Russia and Germany the whole traffic was concentrated upon the cables of which two out of seven from the United Kingdom were at present interrupted; but every effort was being made to restore them. Government departments had been urged to reduce their cable traffic. Furthermore, the Post Office was endeavouring to supplement the cables by an auxiliary wireless service through the existing Government stations.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

FRANCE WANTS GERMAN SHIPS.

PARIS, February 28th.

Considerable comment has been caused in France owing to British naval opinion favouring the destruction of the 74 German warships which have been surrendered to the Allies.

This proposal is criticised as wasteful and it is suggested that the ships could be converted for commercial purposes. In reply to that suggestion the British state that before being surrendered those ships were deprived of highly complicated apparatus for the control of gunfire.

Certain essential machinery was repeatedly removed, and the steel was treated by a process of manufacture rendering it useless for any other purpose.

PARIS, February 28th.

A Havas message says:—France will probably demand the major portion of the German Fleet for her own use, not being now able to undertake a new naval building programme.

PARIS CONFERENCE.

DANISH CLAIMS.

PARIS, March 4th.

It is believed that the Commission appointed by the Peace Conference, in examining Danish claims, recommends the creation of a third zone in Schleswig, south of the zones already claimed by the Danes.

The Commission also recommends that the new zone shall be militarily occupied by the Allies.

A WILSONIAN WORD.

WASHINGTON, March 4th.

President Wilson, addressing a Conference of Governors and Mayors, said that the world was meeting in Paris that the Peace Conference was meeting as the masters of nobody, but as the servants of seven hundred millions. "If we show that we want to serve any interests but theirs, we become candidates for the most lasting discredit that could ever attach to men in history."

BIG AND LITTLE NATIONS.

LONDON, March 4th.

Mr. Lloyd George, speaking at the Welsh Banquet in London, said that he was returning to Paris to do his best to bring the Conference to a speedy conclusion because all the world was thirsting for peace.

The little nations had won dazzling success at the Conference but the real danger lay in their enlisting the faults of the big nations. He warned them of the futility of the idea that they would strengthen their power merely by increasing their territory.

ZIONISM.

PARIS, February 28th.

A Havas message says:—Zionists claiming no difficulty to the Peace Conference, the Conference being unanimous in giving Palestine a mandate from the League of Nations, with Great Britain as the Mandatory Power.

GERMAN SITUATION.

LONDON, March 4th.

The news from Germany indicates that the Government's position is at present very difficult. It is threatened with reaction on one side and proletarian dictatorship on the other.

The masses, who have lost all confidence in the Weimar Assembly and its moderate Coalition Ministry, are demanding extreme democratic measures such as socialisation of wealth and the supremacy of the Soviets in the direction of public affairs.

The Government is taking measures to extend State control over the mines and industrial syndicates, but, up to the present, have been resolute against the Soviet system.

LODGE IN THE WILDERNESS.

WASHINGTON, March 4th.

Senator Lodge has prepared a resolution proposing that the Senate should declare that the League of Nations' draft be not approved, and that the American Commissioners be urged to proceed immediately with the work of concluding peace with Germany.

JAPANESE VIEWS.

PARIS, February 28th.

A Havas message says:—Marquis Saionji, landing at Marseilles, made a statement that Japan desired to see the League of Nations ensure a freer civilization. It was the duty of men of every class, creed, and colour to help build an indestructible barrier against the forces hindering the progress of the world.

Regarding China and Japan, he hoped that the world would realise how fully Japan was prepared to meet China, half way in all future dealings, to bring confidence and co-operation in developing both countries.

NEVER.

PARIS, February 28th.

A Havas message says:—France and Belgium will never permit the west bank of the Rhine to become the base of a future German offensive.

FRANCE AND POLAND.

PARIS, February 28th.

A Havas message says:—Regarding Poland, France's idea is to create an entire guarantor of peace just as France is the guarantor on the west.

LYONS FAIR.

PARIS, February 28th.

A Havas message says:—Four thousand firms have taken space for exhibition in the Lyons Fair building. Never has a French city seen such a display of goods.

THE SUPREME COURT.

A DEAL IN SOCKS.

Before the Chief Justice (Sir William Rees-Davies, K.C.) in the Supreme Court this morning, the Wai Cheong firm of Hongkong sued the Lee Man Hing Kwok Weaving and Manufacturing Co., Ltd., claiming the sum of $5,000, being the amount paid by the plaintiffs to the defendants for a consideration which had failed. The plaintiffs also claimed damages for alleged breach of contract to deliver 130 cases of socks.

Mr. Eldon Potter (instructed by Mr. E. A. Davidson) appeared for the plaintiffs while the defendants were represented by the Hon. Mr. E. H. Sharp, K.C., O.B.E. (instructed by Mr. W. E. L. Shenton).

Opening his case, Mr. Potter said the claim was delivered in two parts: (1) Damages for breach of two contracts for the delivery of certain socks, and (2) The return of $803, being the balance of $5,000 paid by the plaintiffs on account.

Continuing, counsel said the defendants agreed to sell to the plaintiffs, on July 24, 1918, 30 cases of "Chee Mu" socks at $1.30 per dozen. Before taking delivery of the goods, said counsel, the plaintiffs ordered another 100 cases to be delivered together with the 30 cases already ordered.

It was agreed that the plaintiffs should pay $5,000 on account of the purchase money before delivery. This, said counsel, was done by the plaintiffs and when the goods were delivered, they were found to be of inferior quality and not marketable. The plaintiffs refused to accept the goods and returned them to the defendants. The defendants returned the sum of $4,306 but the balance was still due.

The defence, said counsel, was that while admitting the contracts, the defendants maintained that the terms were that payment must be made by the plaintiffs immediately after delivery of the goods. The $5,000 deposited by the plaintiffs were not only a guarantee of the contract but were also to cover whatever damages may be incurred.

This, said counsel, was not true, it is a very unusual arrangement especially when a firm is buying and ready to pay for the goods.

Proceeding, counsel said, the plaintiffs notified the defendants on Feb. 7, 1918, that they were ready to take delivery on the following day—Feb. 8—and that the plaintiffs' firm would attend to inspect the goods before delivery was taken. On the morning of Feb. 8, two of the plaintiff firm's folk attended at the defendant's firm in Kowloon to inspect the socks which were contained in packing cases similar to those produced in court. Counsel said there were 130 cases altogether. When the folk arrived at Kowloon, they found that many of the cases had already been placed on the lighters where they were to be stored for the plaintiffs. The folk examined twenty of the remaining cases which were still in the defendants' premises and found no fault with the socks. They could not examine the cases already on the lighters for the very good reason that they were out of the defendants' premises.

The folk went to the Galloway Company's wharf to await the arrival of the goods and there examined all the cases and found that the socks in many of the cases were not good. They immediately communicated with their masters and also with the defendants, whose manager attended at the wharf and suggested that delivery should be taken of the socks that were good. The folk refused to do this saying that that was a matter for their masters to decide.

Two days later, said counsel, on Feb. 10, the manager of the plaintiff firm together with a Chinese friend and Capt. Douglas, of Messrs. Goddard and Douglas, attended to inspect the socks but the defendants refused to allow them to do so. The plaintiffs now sought the return of the balance of the $5,000 deposited $803—and $2,250, damages for breach of contract.

"TRUTH, JUSTICE, PUBLIC SERVICE."

HONGKONG, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 12, 1919.

CHAPLAIN AND CONGREGATION.

It is to be regretted that a man of the type of the recently appointed Kowloon chaplain should be leaving us so soon. Home truths such as he showed a disposition to utter are really needed here, where there is more pseudo-Christianity than real. Indeed, the scandalous stories which flew round about the reason for his resignation are a good evidence of the need. They originated among his congregation. Room was made for the so-called once more to say: "Behold how these Christians love one another." If this article were a sermon (and it is going to be rather like one, we fear) that would do for the text. For in his final sermon, Mr. T. Woodman Dowling spoke of the need for genuine brotherliness among them, as good as saying that they had none. If this be denied, no matter. We know that they are not brotherly. We know that they are not several other things that they ought to be. Of the average church-goer we would say, in the words of Isaiah: "Yea, he warmeth himself, and saith, I am warm, I have seen the fire: and the residue thereof he maketh a god."

To judge by their behaviour, even in church familiarity can breed contempt. In the very House and presence of God there should be awe. In the presence of King George V., or even in the presence of the Hongkong Governor, you know what their attitude would be. Observe them in church, making themselves comfortable in various ways. They say they believe God is in the midst of them, but they do not behave as if they realized it. One would expect them almost to crawl on hands and knees, if they did mean all they profess. When it comes to brotherly love, wow! It is notorious how little there is of it among them. For six days a week, Ah, they are warm. The residue on the seventh day is cold and formal endorsement of the principle of spiritual warmth, which is love. "All religions," says Gibbon, "are to the vulgar equally true, and to the philosopher equally false, and to the statesman equally useful." What are these Hongkong Christians, these professors of the Gospel of Love? They are not the vulgar, for they have some culture. They are not philosophers, for they haven't enough. And they are not statesmen. Any newcomer who is sufficiently a "griffin" not to have forgotten his earlier entrance upon them will tell you of the cold, appraising stare, the chilly reception of friendly overtures. People full of Christian love should smile more. There is more of that real love in a fawning puppy than in these people. No true Christian can be a spook, or care what a man wears or how he looks, or how much money he has got. When the very light within them is darkness, how great is that darkness. Knox could not have said of Hongkong what he said of Geneva: "Elsewhere the Word of God is taught as purely, but never anywhere have I seen God obeyed as faithfully."

Let us be quite clear. We are not suggesting that the Hongkong church-goers should give all their money to the poor, or give the thief who steals their property some more of it, or turn the other cheek to the brute who hits them. That item sort of interpretation of Christian duty would be unrecognizable. Our meaning is this. Their God is Love. Their religion is a doctrine of Love. Love is the central, dominant motive of their teaching, and it covers their whole duty. Yet they do not love. The ideal, the thing itself, means less to them than the ritual of their services. Mr. Dowling saw this. He urged them to active fraternalism. The Devil is said to be dead. Education killed him. But it isn't true. The Devil still goeth about. It is God who (in these tabernacles) seems moribund. For verily God is the Imagination of Man, and man's Passion is the Devil. Together they make a team, and a living religion. Lust tempered by imagination leads to Love. Imagination tinged with passion becomes Religion. Specializing in either, man is a rotter. Embracing both in right adjustment he rises from a dead self to a much higher thing. With God in the mind and love in the heart, life is joy. Life is truly religious. It is, in fact, the Christian life, which these people ought to live, but don't. They will be shocked to hear it. They may even, in a forgiving, Christian way, be mildly annoyed to be told so. And the chaplain who seemed disposed to tell them this is leaving them. We are sorry.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

To-day's dollar is worth a half penny more than yesterday's, 3s. 1 7/16d.

The Philippine National Bank of Manila has opened a branch at Shanghai.

To-day's return of communicable disease has four cases of cerebro-spinal fever, one fatal.

The Canton-Macao railway company has been provisionally registered. A meeting of stockholders is to follow soon.

Mr. N. O. Liddell has been appointed Secretary of the Shanghai Municipal Council, in place of Mr. W. E. Leveson resigned.

A Chinese hawk was this morning fined $20 or one month's hard labour for trespassing on Crown land at Flypoint Barracks.

The 50th meeting of shareholders in the Hongkong Fire Insurance Company is advertised in another column to take place on March 29.

The Cantonese of Shanghai have chartered the China Merchants steamers Kung Ping and To Nam to take rice to Canton. They are expected in Canton March 25.

During the Bishop's absence this month Archdeacon Barnett of Canton acts as his commissary and the Rev. A. D. Stewart of St. Paul's College attends to urgent correspondence.

The Hon. Mr. H. E. Pollock, K.C. is to address a meeting on Tuesday April 8, under the auspices of the Church of England Men's Society, on "Work which requires to be done." That promises to be very interesting.

Man Wa Lam, a coolie, was fined $3 or seven days hard labour by Mr. Lindell for gambling on the street, this morning. The accused was taken red handed, after his associates had run away, with 13 cents and a pack of domino cards.

The Food Relief Association is not relying altogether on charity. Economic relief should be afforded if its messages to North China are heeded. It has sent telegrams asking various people up there to urge the rice merchants not to export rice to Japan.

General Li Lish-chun, Chief of the General Staff of the Military Government of Kwangtung, is insisting upon his resignation being accepted. General Lu Yung-ting, who also wanted to resign, has been told that if the Shanghai Conference comes to a deadlock his job will be most important, and he must hang on.

A Chinese coolie this morning was fined $25.00, or in default four weeks hard labour, by Mr. R. Lindell for hawking turnips without a licence. The defendant strongly denied the accusation, but the evidence was too strong, and after ascertaining that he had been convicted many times before, His Worship inflicted the maximum penalty.

Two Chinese women were dismissed with a caution this morning by Mr. J. R. Wood for cutting down trees on Crown lands. He warned the defendants that if they were brought up before him again he would fine them, but as this was their first offence he would let them go. A good deal of damage is done by people who go into the woods on the pretence of cutting grass.

A Shanghai paper reports the death, in Belgium, of Mr. H. E. Blunt, of the Peking Office of the Hongkong & Shanghai Bank. Mr. Blunt was home on leave in 1914, and immediately on the declaration of war he joined the Yeomanry. Since then he has seen much service in the Army and was looking forward to returning to civil life when he was struck down with influenza. A telegram received by the Bank announced his death. The late Mr. Blunt was an able Chinese scholar, and his decease is a big loss to the Bank.

PINKIE'S LETTER.

We have received the following delightful "open letter," which is meant for Gray and Jean and all the other nice boys and girls of Hongkong.

MISS PINKIE.

presents her compliments to all the children of Hongkong and begs to state that she isn't going to write this in the third person because I can't.

But I just wanted to tell you that I shall be so pleased if you will come to my Fairy Party in the Wood. It's on Friday.

The Fairy Queen says it's my v- own Party and I can ask any body I like, so, of course, I ask you.

Some of the nice People out of story books are coming too, so you will meet lots of old friends. We have always been told that these People all "lived very happily ever after," but as one never heard of them or met them about anywhere, I was getting a little anxious. So I know you will be glad to see that they are all right, and what a charming Princess Cinderella makes, and what an attached couple Beauty and the Beast are (though you remember that nobody really liked the marriage), and what a comfortable soothing woman the Sleeping Beauty has turned out.

And oh, by-the-by, the Fairy Queen said particularly that, in case you do not quite understand the Explanation which she dances to Molly, I am to tell you that in an ordinary way of speaking, it is something like this—

Babyland and Fairyland
Lie so near, so near each other
By the stretching of a hand
Is the gulf between them spanned
Baby Sister, Fairy Brother,
Meet and greet upon the strand.

Trickles down Time's golden sand,
Baby hearts grow human wholly
Close the Gates of Fairyland
And the veil is falling slowly
We have lost our Spring of holly
And we do not understand.

He who still would loose the chain,
Still unbear the Gates of Fairy
Needs must stoop and humbly deign
Seek the tiny path with pain
Tread the way that does not vary
Back through Babyland it lies
To the long-lost Paradise
To the Land of Youth again.

Whether the presence of the Grown-ups would be any addition to Babyland and Society is a question for you to settle, but Fairy Queen says that, if they are wanted, that's how they've got to get there.

Tommy says you may take it from him it's a straight tip.

I don't know what that means, but he says I'm to cork it down so I've corked it.

And I remain, Faithfully yours,

PINKIE

RUB IT IN.

THE "EMPRESS OF RUSSIA."

[INSPECTION BY A China Mail Man.]

Visiting the Empress of Russia looked an unpromising job with the approaches almost blocked with trucks of goods which were being hastily loaded. She has assumed a new coat, grey and buff, and externally presents a business-like appearance. However, once on board among the first-class cabins, saloons, etc., all traces of anything like ship-lounging had disappeared.

For some weeks the ship has been undergoing a thorough internal overhaul. The reason for this is of course that the ship has been carrying Chinese coolies. All trace of their former occupancy has been eliminated.

The first place visited was the Ladies' Lounge. This is a lovely spacious room with a beautiful coloured glass and illuminated dome. The furnishings and lighting arrangements are delightful. Everything is in the best of taste and there is a grand piano, the like of which is seldom seen. Palms adorn the lounge which was used as a dining room by the American soldiers when crossing to France.

The Ladies' Writing Room was next visited. This dainty little place has to be seen to be properly realised. Print could not effectively describe it. Tapestries are on the walls, there are neat little writing tables, dainty seats and lounges, and tasteful curtains screen the windows. One can imagine the ladies lingering there long after writing is finished, conjuring up thoughts of pirating furnishings and ideas.

The smoke room was the next on the list. This is for the untidy male, and is a fine big room with a dome similar to that in the Ladies' Lounge. There are side lounges, leather and tapestry covered chairs and seats. The walls are covered with wood panels and carving. The panels are of extraordinary width, made from a special kind of wood imported from Australia for this particular purpose. The whole presents an appearance of solidity as compared with the ladies' rooms, but excellent taste and obvious comfort are predominant features.

There is a cafe adjoining which is not yet completed but from the elaborate preparations in process there is no doubt that this will be a feature of the ship.

What used to be the gymnasium has been converted into a nursery. The company realised that a playground for the children was essential for their happiness and the comfort of the adults. It's a nice little place, solid and safe and a few toys are already in the room which is incomplete at present.

Passing along the corridors to the salute-de-luxe the colour scheme is obvious. The painting is a beautiful white enamel with a suitable mahogany colouring that gives a splendid effect. It is very striking and pleasing to the eye.

Entering the suites a lady with the party went into a nursery. The suite comprised 2 bedrooms, sitting and bath rooms. These were furnished "regardless" style, beauty and comfort were there. Everything possible had been done for the lucky passengers. It is luxury with capital letters here without a doubt. These suites are in three styles. In one the furnishings are in mahogany, in another white enamel, and the third fumed oak. There are brass beds, wardrobes, curtains and everything that is required for a high class hotel suite.

The dining room is on a par with that of a first class hotel dining room. The tables are not large and are designed to suit small parties, as it is understood this is more popular. A nice upright grand piano adorns the dining room. Adjoining is the chef's domain. This is a picture and might be held up as a pattern of a kitchen. You could see your face in the dish covers and the whole presented the ideal as regards cleanliness. The odour arising from the viands was very appetising. The cooks were European and Chinese and wore the correct cook's uniform, cap and all. Time was flying so a hurried visit was paid to the second class lounge and dining room. Here things were on a little less lavish scale, naturally, but good.

A striking feature of the ship is the very long-deck space. Standing at one end the other is hardly visible, so that passengers will not lack the means of exercise. Library, barber's shop, and other conveniences are in evidence.

When walking about the ship's interior it was very hard to realise that one was on a ship at all. All that can be said is that without a doubt the Empress of Russia is the queen of ships sailing to the Orient and there is no wonder that the company is unable to provide all the passages that are required.

A FAMILY NECESSITY.

EVERY family should be provided with Chamberlain's Pain Balm at all times. Sprains may be cured in much less time when promptly treated. Lame back, lame shoulder pains in the side and chest and rheumatic pains are some of the diseases for which it is especially valuable. WORK AMONG LEPERS IN CHINA.

DR. BRADLEY'S WORK.

Medical missions in the Far East had a worthy exponent of the good work they are doing in Dr. Bradley last evening at the Helena May Institute. Dr. Bradley is a member of the Chinese Missionary Society and has charge of the Leper Hospital at Pakhoi.

The Rev. A. D. Stewart presided and spoke of a visit he had paid to the lepers in the Hospital.

Dr. Bradley, in the course of his lecture, stated that many people had peculiar ideas as to leprosy. Most people looked upon it as very infectious or contagious. He remembered speaking in London once and telling an audience that leprosy was not infectious and only slightly contagious. Somebody in the audience came up to him and related that when he was in Palestine before the war a crowd of lepers asked him for money. He gave it to them, but on the second occasion when they crowded round him he fled as he feared the loathsome disease. Many people were inclined to paint a halo around those working on leper settlements, thinking that doctors were taking their lives into their hands. It was not so; as long as proper care was taken, nobody could contract the disease, although they might be in daily contact with a patient. There was, of course, the case of a doctor in the Hawaiian Islands who contracted the disease and died, but that was due to the fact that he ate, drank and lived with the lepers. If one dealt hygienically with such cases there was no fear whatever of getting leprosy.

There was no need to emphasise the importance of work such as this. Many people differed on education and missionary work amongst Chinese, but there should be no hesitancy in regard to work amongst the miserable lepers. At present, the Chinese were doing nothing for these afflicted people in China, and their attitude could be contrasted with the enormous work being done by the British Government in India for the unfortunate lepers there. The Chinese had a great fear of leprosy, for they knew that if they contracted it they would be driven from their homes, lose their friends, family, everything, and become outcasts. They had nowhere to go to except to a horrible leper village, where men, women and children lived together totally uncared for. The disease was allowed to spread, as the Chinese officials were afraid of it and did not know how to tackle it. General Lung Chai-kwong, well-known for his cruelty, once invited all the lepers of one of the villages to a feast, and when they had all assembled, surrounded the place and set fire to it, shooting down any who tried to escape. There was another Chinese official, holding an important position in the Canton Government, who once visited the speaker and, after saying that they all admired the work he was doing, declared that if he had his way he would invite all the lepers on to a steamer and then sink it.

For many years the treatment of leprosy had not been one of great hopefulness, but in the last fifteen years there seemed to be some hope of being able to do something for the unfortunate lepers. The Chinese were under the impression that foreign doctors could cure anything, and, therefore, travelled many miles and spent enormous sums of money to consult them. When the lepers came to Pakhoi they would ask "How much will you charge for curing me?" The doctors had to reply that they could not heal the body, though they could alleviate the suffering. It was pitiful to see the faces of the lepers when they were told the worst. The anguish depicted on them was beyond human endurance. The treatment mostly consisted in taking frequent doses of an oil made from an Indian plant. It had been known to have very beneficial results, but the Chinese did not relish drinking it. There were five lepers in India, who were under the care of Sir Lennet Rodgers, the discoverer of this oil, and they had been completely healed as a result of the treatment.

The lecturer went on to speak of the treatment of the lepers. When a patient was first brought to the hospital, he was treated with the oil, after which, if his hands or feet were decaying, the mortifying member was amputated. Surgical operations were introduced by his predecessor and had proved of immense benefit. A British Consul in Pakhoi who took a deep interest in the work had informed him that, although he was a warm admirer of the settlement, he could not understand why Dr. Bradley sought to prolong life instead of allowing the people to die. Well, a doctor's business was first to save life, and, failing that, to prolong it. Dr. Bradley related the story of a well-educated Chinese, as present holding the position of lay-reader in the settlement, who came to the Hospital about 20 years ago suffering from the disease. One of his legs rotted and fell off, and one day, through over exertion, the other leg rotted and was in a most frightful condition. The man was nearly dead, but he consented to the amputation of

PARABLE.

Into the mind of a young man, one of many such young men, in a British Colony, one of many such colonies, there leaped one day the concept of Christian love. In Salvation Army, and Methodist circles they would have said: Glory be. He is converted.

An evangelical vicar would have said: He has received the Light, even as it came to St. Paul.

And a Bishop would have said: but what can it possibly matter what a Bishop would have said? When this impressionable young man had this experience, it filled him, as a balloon is filled with gas, and he rose to the occasion. He loved everybody, and he loved loved them. He was very happy. He laughed at children, beamed on beggars, and smiled at even surly folk. So he went out into the world.

And his Boss said, privately, "Grinning idiot," being full of affairs; out the office coolie somehow found the day brighter. And the evening and the day were another day.

He went to the Club, and men that he did not know looked him over, and said nothing. "He smiled at them and they did not smile back, because they were full of ideas like Dignity, and Status, and Position, and who the devil is the fellow, anyway, and why does he wear such truly awful waistcoat?" But the young man loved them, and the evening and the morning were one more day.

Then went he forth among the Respectable, and was filled with compass for that they were unhappy over little things. They told him that such and such is done, and so and so is not done; and being full of this great love he marvelled, as at one escaping from a house on fire, who tarried, and saith: Wait, a little while. I have forgotten to wind up the clock. Yet even then, he loved, and was unabashedly happy, and smiled away and at all whomsoever did come aigh him.

And a Darsen conversed with him, saying kindly words about the weather, and general things about how pleasant it was to meet such, and had he been confirmed? At the answer he did frown, but the young man went on smiling.

It came to pass that on the seventh day he went to church. That cured him. Now he is very like other people, and smiles less often, and love has ceased to inflame him.

Yet, having a good digestion, and having hardened his heart, he is not so unhappy as he ought to be.

It is a Queer Thing.

The Raub Australian Gold Mining Company's output for the five weeks ended March 1 was: Bukit Komar, Stone crushed 6,225 tons, gold obtained 1,828 ozs., average per ton 4,285 dwts. Bukit Malacca: Stone crushed 4,648 tons, gold obtained 888 ozs., average per ton 1,681 dwts.

of his leg. It worked miracles and to-day, though the man had to walk on wooden legs, he was a great help to those in charge of the mission and to the patients, whom he taught and preached to. When war broke out, the German Mission at Pakhoi began to get busy and printed papers, spreading all sorts of lies. It was difficult to go anywhere without hearing of something extraordinary that the Germans were doing or had done. He was approached to do something to counteract these activities. They had a printing press in the settlement, and with the help of the legless man, who acted as Editor, they started printing a paper and distributing it to all. Now three years had passed and the circulation of the paper, which was a weekly printed in Chinese, was 1,500. This was the work of the man who was at death's door. He was excellent in every way. He was eager and anxious to serve the cause of the mission and the British Empire, which he considered, had done so much for him and China.

Dr. Lennet Rodgers had experimented for a number of years and had produced from chaulmoogra oil a purer substance known as gynocerate of soda. The new treatment was proving successful, and there was every hope for the lepers. In the Pakhoi Hospital there were 150 beds, 100 for men and 50 for women. Money was needed to carry on the work. The oil was expensive, and a large quantity had to be taken at a time, while the treatment had to be continued for two or three years. The children did a great deal of work, making lace, etc. People were afraid to buy the lace, thinking it was infectious, but it was not. Before the lace was sent out it was put into a high pressure sterilizer and no germs were left when it was taken out.

At the conclusion of Dr. Bradley's lecture the Chairman asked for increased subscriptions to the leper work in Pakhoi, reminding that the subscriptions would be divided between the Pakhoi Hospital and the International Mission to Lepers. Subscriptions should be sent either to Mrs. J. L. McPherson or Mrs. F. M. L. L.

THE FUTURE OF "TEMPORARY" OFFICERS.

We are glad to see a plea by Professor Spenser Wilkinson, that preference should be given in our post-war Army to Territorial and temporary officers, who have distinguished themselves of active service, over such Regular officers as have not. It is perfectly well known that before the war the proportion of the nation's able men who chose the Army as a profession was very small. During the war, on the other hand, it has attracted ability of every kind. This ability was but slowly utilised, owing to the professional clique spirit, which so long kept the Regular officers apart as a privileged caste, with all the important commands and Staff appointments as perquisites. The special success of our Army in 1918 was not a little due to the tardy suppression of this bad system, and the substitution of something rather nearer the Napoleonic ideal of the career open to talent. It would be a disaster, as well as a mistake, if this forward step were retraced, when we come to put the Army on its post-war footing. But the forces working to retrace it are quite certain to be strong at the War Office; and Lord Milner's successor there, whoever he may be, will need vigorous backing from the outside public if he is to get the better of them.—Daily Chronicle.

CANADIAN SOLDIER'S FUNERAL.

Full military honours were accorded to the late Pte W. C. Lane, who died on Monday last at the Military Hospital, and who was on his way home to Canada, after serving with the Canadian forces at Vladivostok, at his funeral yesterday evening. The Rev. Gimblett, read the service at the Church, and graveside, and the funeral was attended by a large number of soldiers, including Capt. Duckwood, C.A.S.C., Lieut. G. C. L. Brassart of the 259th Battalion C.E.F., and all men of the different Canadian details at present stationed in Hongkong, as well as others from English and Scotch Regiments. The band of the 18th Infantry Regiment played the Dead March, and a party of the 88th Co. R.G.A. in charge of Lieut. R. F. Forbes marched by the Gun carriage.—The same party under Sergt. J. Gilhooley fired the three volleys over the grave, and two trumpeters sounded the "Last Post."

The interment took place in the Military section, which has recently been opened, in the Protestant cemetery. There were a number of beautiful floral tributes, some of which were inscribed. "In respectful memory of Pte. Lane from his Canadian comrades." "From the Gunners of the 88th Co. R.G.A. with deepest sympathy." "From the Officers of the 88th Co. R.G.A." "From the Members of the R.G.A. Sergeants' Mess, Victoria Barracks." "In respectful memory from the Non-Commissioned Officers Canadian." "From the junior N.C.O.'s 88th Co. R.G.A." "From Dr. and Mrs. H. Lovett Cummings with deepest sympathy," and others. Photographs were taken of the grave in order that they might be sent home to the deceased's relatives.

"MARY'S ANKLE."

One remarkable thing about the Frawley Co., is the variety of up-to-date plays they have got word perfect. The uniform excellence with which all are being presented is noteworthy. Last night's house, and the enthusiastic way with which the play was received shows that in the public mind it is a question whether any theatrical company has ever come to Hongkong which was so good all the way through, or has shown greater finish in every detail. The bulk of the work in last night's piece fell on Mr. W. D. Howard as Dr. Hampton. We remember him in very different parts on a former visit. Then we thought him at his best as the morphinomaniac in "Kick In," but he went one better last night. Mr. G. A. Forbes as Chub proved himself as amusing as ever. He is the most versatile actor the company has got. The "Clementine" of Miss Florence Chapman will long be remembered—she acted the part so well, and the honours of the evening certainly went to her. Miss Valentine Sydney also is a welcome person on the stage. Hongkong remembers her as the medium in "The Thirteenth Chair." It must be admitted it was more acceptable to see her in the part of Clementine's mother. Mr. Reynolds Demmon's fine presence and masterly bearing in every part he touched made his work last night a complete success. Having mentioned these as contributing to last night's enjoyment, it seems unkind not to go on and mention the rest, but their parts were only minor ones. All were quite well done. "Mary's Ankle" was an amusing play, all the more amusing because it is so improbable. It is its improbability rather than the lines which the actors are given which makes it so funny. But nevertheless the good cast which the company provided enabled them to turn flimsy material into solid fun; and after all that is their main object.

MYSTERY MIXED WITH MIRTH.

No more can we believe our eyes, since last night at the City Hall, we watched, o'ercome, with great surprise, more marvels than we can recall. Nota bene. 'Twas Malini. His Excellency had a party there, and stared and smiled like all the rest, while one small fat man short of hair, did tricks and cracked the frequent jest. Nota bene. 'Twas Malini. Such conjuring stunts have never been, surpassed at any other show, of all the lot that we have seen; there's one or two we'd like to know. Nota bene. 'Twas Malini. He just a banknote to a man, and took a tenner from his nose. "Who is the only man who can, find dollars in all fruit that grows?" Malini: Nota bene. With eggs and cards and simple things, and also a pair of wondrous hands, most marvellous effects he brings, though in full sight he always stands. Nota bene. Malini. He cheats a little, he admits, but not so much as others do. He has a better trick than to go to the bank and you'll say so too. Of Malini, Nota bene.

BUSINESS AEROPLANES HERE?

SIGNIFICANT ENQUIRIES.

Whether we shall shortly see Hongkong business men following their calling in aeroplanes instead of motor cars is open to much doubt. Evidently the War Office think it within the bounds of possibility. The Military Authorities at Home have asked the Shanghai Chamber of Commerce to circularise Shanghai firms as to their attitude towards the adoption of the aeroplane in connection with their business in the Far East as soon as planes are released from military service. This the Shanghai Chamber of Commerce did recently but we are not in possession of the names of any firms responding. Heads of firms with branches at outposts will shortly have the opportunity of visiting branches at various outposts, starting after tiffin, and being back here for dinner.

HONGKONG BILLIARD CHAMPIONSHIP.

The match between K. K. Leung and P. A. Yvanovich, in the Open Billiard Championship of the Colony was won last night by Leung 750, Yvanovich scoring 745. The best breaks were—Leung, 50, 46, 45, 39, 38, 37, 23, 21, 20, 20. Yvanovich, 38, 31, 30, 30, 27, 26, 21, 21, 20. This game was keenly fought out and was a treat to the spectators. It was a ding-dong game right up to 500; then Yvanovich playing well led 553-490. The play then, was most exciting and the scores were again level at 600. Then Leung put on breaks of 37 and 20 and led 660-610. Even play followed until the scores were 712-670 Leung leading. At this stage it was generally expected that Leung would run out easily, but Yvanovich scoring consecutive double figure breaks pulled up and made the scores level again, 729 all. Speculation was now rife as to who would win. The scores were 738-731 in favour of Yvanovich. The latter then scored 7 and with his opponent's ball in baulk played a risky pot-the-red and left an easy opening to Leung which enabled the Chinese player to run out.

TEMPLE STEPS NOT A PUBLIC PLACE.

When six Chinese were brought before Mr. R. Lindell this morning, on a charge of gambling, three of them pleaded guilty and the other three not guilty, stating they were only looking on. The police had a strong case against them, however, and things looked black for the gamblers, when it was adduced in evidence that they were playing on the steps of a Temple, and Mr. Lindell immediately raised the point as to whether this was a public place or not. He must have caused a great disappointment to the native policeman by deciding against him. The six defendants left the court, without being fined, happy, but poorer by the large sum of 53 cents which was taken from them when arrested and which was ordered to be given to the Poor Box, so they had the satisfaction of knowing that their gambling had done some good, even if they all lost their money.

LEUNG SUN'S "SWEET TOOTH."

Leung Sun, an employee of a Chinese Sugar Refinery, pleaded guilty, before Mr. J. R. Wood this morning, to a charge of stealing seven and a half cetties of sugar candy from his employer, who gave evidence that he had employed this man for over three years as a water carrier. The Chinese detective who gave evidence stated that he watched the defendant put the bag out of the window and then pick it up outside. As there were no previous convictions against him, Mr. Wood imposed a $15 fine or 21 days imprisonment with hard labour.

S.S. "VAN WAERWILCK."

A noon to-day the Indo China Steam Navigation Company informed the China Mail that the S.S. Van Waerwylck had not passed Waglan. As she was expected at daylight she must be delayed by fog. This is the end of her sailing under the British flag. The war being over she will be returned to the Koninklijke Paketvaart Maatschappij and is to take up her old run to the Dutch East Indies at the end of this month.

Professor J. W. Hinton of Hongkong University is leaving to-morrow on the Empress of Russia for Vladivostok. He will be accompanied as far as Shanghai by Mrs. Hinton who will then return to the Colony and proceed to England.

NAVY AND DOLLAR.

Early in January the China Mail was able to announce that the soldiers' grievance with regard to the dollar question had been redressed by converting their sterling payments at 2/- to the dollar up to £300 a year. At the time we commented that the Navy too were entitled to this concession. We learn that the Admiralty in C. has been advised that the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty are pleased, etc., to make payments to such Dockyard employees as are in receipt of sterling salaries also at 2/- to the dollar up to the same limit as for the Army. To our surprise, and to the surprise we are sure of everyone, this concession is not for Naval ratings who are paid 50% at 2/-, which is increased only to 60% and the other half at the current rate which is a great hardship for Jack. We hope that it will be found that the intention is to apply the whole concession to all men under the Admiralty, civilians and sailors alike. The concession to the Dockyard men is retrospective, from January 1.

NEW DUTCH MINISTER TO CHINA.

On board the s.s. Van Waerwylck is Mr. Jorikheer Oulendijk the newly-appointed Dutch Ambassador to China. He is a C.M.G.—the only Dutch subject who has been so honoured. He was formerly Holland's Minister in Russia and while there did some good work for Great Britain. He has his wife with him. She is an Englishwoman and a Dame of the Order of the British Empire.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

Mr. G. W. Barton of the Douglas Steamship Co. has gone to Amoy. He will return on Sunday on the s.s. Haihong.

Mr. A. G. Gordon was entertained to tiffin at the Hongkong Hotel to-day. He is leaving the Colony for a few months. Mrs. Gordon and the Misses Gordon will remain here.

The Vanity Fair Company is at present playing in Canton. They return to the Colony on Thursday and will probably give another show here ere they leave for Singapore.

Lieut. F. Medway R.N. who was in charge of the submarines here a few months ago, writes from the Royal Naval Barracks, Portsmouth, it's the old story—"the call of the East"—he wishes he were back in Hongkong.

An advertisement on another page informs the public that a limited number of tickets will be put into service at the Peak on Friday next. We understand there will be two coaches to every "riches"; and the fare will be the same as that laid down for chair coolies. If the new venture prove successful more riches will be put into service. The C.S.P. is to be congratulated on this new departure as a good riches service at the Peak will satisfy a long felt want—especially in rainy weather.

SOLDIER'S WILL IN RHYME.

My belongings I leave to my next of kin;
My purse is empty, there's nothing in;
My uniform, rifle, my pack and kit I leave to the next poor devil 'twill fit.
But if this war I manage to clear I'll keep it myself for a souvenir.
In the form the will of Pte. S. E. Woodburn, of Wilsey, has just been proved. He was killed in France, and left £1,000.

TO-DAY'S ADVERTISEMENTS.

DEATH OF CAPTAIN RICE

Captain "Emory" Rice, commander of the steamship Mongolia, the first American steamship to sink a German submarine and to fire the first shot in the naval warfare between the United States and the Germans, died on January 4 at the New York Navy Yard hospital from pneumonia, following influenza. He had been ill only one week. Captain Rice, says the New York Herald, defied the Germans in their submarine campaign, and although his vessel was marked for sinking because of the shot which sank that first submarine he made forty-one successful voyages and was still steaming the seas when fighting ceased.

Thirty-four bales of cotton were destroyed, the loss being estimated at Y5,000. The fire is said to have originated from cigarette-ash. The Shinkoku-maru is owned by the Nishimoto S.S.
